

ITA PARTICIPATED IN IMPORTANT ORNITHOLOGY AND BIRDWATCHING EVENTS: THE IX NEOTROPICAL ORNITHOLOGY CONGRESS AND THE BIRDS FESTIVAL AVISTAR PERU 2011

As a preamble to the IX Neotropical Ornithology Congress, ITA joined from November 2 to 6, 2011 the Birds Festival AVISTAR PERU 2011, held at Kennedy Park in Miraflores district. At this event, ITA showed the bird's diversity, research and conservation projects at working areas in Tambopata rainforests and Machu Picchu cloud forests. This stand was the most visited and educative of the Festival.

The IX Neotropical Ornithology Congress took place in Cusco on November 8 to 14, 2011. In this event ITA participated with a stand showing our birds' conservation and research work. The stand was visited by important national and international ornithologists and birdwatchers. We had the honor to receive the visit of John Feldsja, Irma Francke, Manuel Plenge, Tom Schulenberg, José Luis Venero, Fernando Angulo and Peter Hocking among others.

Juan Luis Venero, Carmen Soto, José Koechlin, Edwin Salazar, Fabiola Riva y Dennis Osorio

Dennis Osorio, John Feldsja y Fernando Angulo

Leonardo Gonzales, Irma Franke, Renzo Zeppilli T, José Koechlin, Grace Servat, Carmen Soto y Oscar Vilca

Daniel Lane, Jose Luis Venero, Tom Schulenberg, Dennis Osorio y Peter Hocking

ITA TALKS ABOUT CONSERVATION, ECOTOURISM AND VOLUNTEERING AT THE XV LATIN-AMERICAN FOREST SCIENCE STUDENTS CONGRESS

ITA sponsored and participated at the XV Latin-American Forest Science Students Congress, held at the Universidad Agraria La Molina, on November 8 to 11, 2011. In this event, José Purisaca, General Manager of ITA talked about Conservation and Ecotourism, and Patricia Vega, Project Manager, talked about the Young Researchers and the Volunteer programs. The participants showed a lot of interests and signed up for many ITA initiatives oriented to students.

